

Module 2, Unit 2, Lesson 1:

The Six Steps of Nonviolent Social Change

Directions:

Using GoogleSites or another free website designer, students will create a webpage that responds to the following prompts:

1. Identify a current issue and describe how you could bring about nonviolent social change using the Six Steps of Nonviolence, as undergirded by all Six Principles of Nonviolence.
2. What is the issue?
3. How and where will you gather your information?
4. What is your plan to educate yourself, others and your opponent?
5. How will you gauge or measure your level of commitment? Will you know by doing certain things or not doing something? What are your negotiating points? How will you determine if they are realistic?
6. How will you determine what method of negotiations is best? Will you or a team decide your negotiation plan?
7. If your demands or requests are not met, what form of direct action will you take and why?
8. What is your plan to lay the groundwork for reconciliation?
